

Conformiq Recognizes Flander as Partner

November 2006

One of the key business areas for Conformiq Software is the testing of software in mobile devices. In order to tap into the best possible resources for mobile software development, Conformiq has been partnering with Flander, a leading mobile software expert in Finland.

"We want to focus on model driven testing and quality assurance, but at the same time provide full and complete solutions to our customers. In order to facilitate this in the mobile software domain, we are partnering with Flander", says Antti Huima, managing director for Conformiq Software.

"We have been happy with level of expertise and commitment we have experienced from Flander", comments Jani Koivulainen, director, business development for Conformiq. "By providing in-depth support in a key vertical, we have been able to focus on our core business assets and competencies."

More Information

For more information about our company and our operations, please contact us at sales@conformiq.com or send us a contact request.